

Fragile and conflict affected situations

Conflict Zone is a war-themed real-time strategy game, developed by MASA Group and published by Ubisoft for Dreamcast, PlayStation 2, and Microsoft Windows. In 2010, the majority of the world's developed countries have formed a centralised organisation, known as the ICP (International Corps for Peace), dedicated to bringing about world peace through worldwide media. However, not all developing countries are keen to be involved. GHOST, a secret organisation, seeks only the economic interests of its members without any attachment to morals thus does not hesitate to create crisis situations which the ICP is forced to solve, through humiliation, and healthy propaganda. There are 2 playable campaigns in Conflict Zone: the GHOST campaign, and the ICP campaign. Missions take place in locations where fictional conflicts take place such as: A civil war in Ukraine, wars between Indonesia and Malaysia, India and Pakistan and Nigeria and Niger. Most missions usually require the player to build a base (or a 'camp' in GHOST's case) and complete objectives in order to successfully complete the mission.
