

Latin America & Caribbean

The term Latin America and the Caribbean, sometimes called as LAC is an English-language acronym referring to the Caribbean and Latin America region. The term LAC covers an extensive region, extending from Bahamas to Chile and Argentina. The region consists over 670.230.000 people as for 2016, and spanned for 21.951.000 km² (8.475.000 sq mi). While the term of the region is widely accepted, it is still in question that could some non-Latin speaking countries are included or not. Nevertheless, the term doesn't share any close idea about speaking zone. == List of countries == == Caribbean == == Central America == Main articles: Mexico and Central America == South America == == Somewhat are included == Bermuda Easter Island (Chile part) United States == Economy == It is estimated to attribute for over 400 bil. dollars that form the core for economic stability, however, few countries, notably Venezuela, are parts of OPEC. == Religion == Most countries are dominated by Christianity, the largest being Roman Catholic. == See also == Americas (terminology) North America Northern America Central America South America Caribbean Latin America United Nations Statistics Division United Nations geoscheme United Nations geoscheme for the Americas CELAC Latin American and Caribbean Group Latin Americans == References == == External links ==
